

Children's Leisure Assessment Scale for preschoolers (CLASSPre) – ID Card

Rosenblum, Waissman, & Diamond, 2017

Description	A parent report questionnaire (based on the CLASS questionnaire for school children) regarding their children's participation in play and leisure activities.
Purpose	To examine the extent of the child's participation in leisure activities and the extent of interaction with the environment, as a measure of function and health.
Target population	Children aged 4-6 years, with suspected neurodevelopmental difficulties or with diverse health conditions.
Administration	The tool can be administered by licensed occupational therapists. * Beyond the final grade, an in-depth analysis of the various items is significant.
Versions	Hebrew, Arabic, English
Filling and coding duration	Filling: 10 minutes; Coding: 10 minutes
Structure	The questionnaire includes 20 play and leisure activities which the parents are asked to rate according to dimensions of the number of activities engaged in (Variety), frequency of engagement (Frequency), with whom the activity is carried out (Sociability), the degree of enjoyment from the engagement (Preference).
Scoring	An average score is calculated for each dimension to map the characteristics of the child's participation. Detailed coding process on page 2.
Interpretation	A high average score indicates better performance.
Psychometric indices	The questionnaire has content validation and internal reliability.
